STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin.

The Lewiston Journal says: There has been a large immigration of French Canadians into Lewiston, the past week. Over one hundred have come in on the Grand Trunk trains. With the immigrants and the usual complement of passengers, the trains had about all they could carry. Most of them are the same persons who went from Lewiston to Canada, last fall.

T. Callahan, of Lewiston, has sold his residence on the corner of Main and Middle streets, to Bishop Healey, of Portland, for $10,000.

The Lewiston Journal says: The Overseers of the Poor contemplate recommending in their report for this year, to the city council, the introducing of a steam-heating apparatus, and other improvements, at the city alms house. We are informed that eighteen fires have been kept in the buildings during the winter. The overseers think that the expense of warming the buildings, and the danger from fire could be lessened by steam heating.

President Cheney and Treasurer Jones, of Bates College, have returned home from Concord.

The class of '84, Bates College, held a meeting, Saturday morning, and elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, J. E. McVay; Vice-President, W. D. Wilson; Secretary and Treasurer, E. M. Holden; Chaplain, E. F. Burrill; Marshal, F. S. Sampson; Executive Committee, E. H. Emery, Miss K. A. McVay, E. E. Chadwick; Postmaster, J. W. Chadwick; Class Orator, M. L. Hersey; Odist, Miss E. L. Knowles; Poet, A. Beede, Jr.; Historian, A. S. Mariner; Prophet, D. L. Whitmarsh. Base ball nine—D. L. Whitmarsh, Captain; A. S. Mariner, Manager.

The Journal says: Detective Hildreth, of Suncook, N. H., came to Lewiston, Friday afternoon, on search for a man named Frank Currier, who was wanted for larceny at Manchester, N. H. On Saturday, he was found at Scribner's livery stable, where he had been employed as a hostler. Currier was arrested and placed in city prison. Detective Hildreth took him to Manchester, on the night train. Currier graduated from the New Hampshire State Prison, last August. The crime with which he is now charged, is breaking into a store-house in Manchester, about three months ago, and stealing a valuable harness and several other articles. Currier took the harness to Lowell, Mass., and sold it. The detective traced the harness and recovered it. Currier married a girl in this city, and a suspicion that he had come here, was confirmed by a letter received at Manchester, from him, and dated at Lewiston. Detective Hildreth says that he did not take the trouble to send so far for him, not so much on account of the importance of his recent offence, as because he has a bad record, and they regard him as a desperate fellow, and dangerous while at large.

Although the municipal year is not yet closed, it is estimated that the total earnings of the Lewiston Water Works will be about $21,000. Last year the receipts were $14,400, showing a gain for the present year of just about 50 per cent. The annual interest on the water debt is about $25,000, and the running expenses are about $5,000, making the total annual charge $30,000. So, this year, the water works' earnings approach within about $9,000 of the expenses. There are now 1,450 services connected with the water mains. The earnings will be increased by the new inspection, which has nearly been completed by Inspector Nash. Many instances are found where water-takers have not made a full report to the clerk of the water board of the number of faucets they have, etc., and are not paying for what they get. The report of the inspector will result in making the quarterly water bills of these parties considerably heavier. Thus far, the financial progress of the water works has exceeded all expectations, and the time is not far ahead, when they will pay all that the city ordinance by which they were established, contemplates, viz., the interest on the bonds, the running expenses and 1 per cent. per annum to the water works sinking fund.—Lewiston Journal.

"How is it about sins of ignorance?" said a West Auburn man to a Journal reporter, that morning. "I ain't laughed so much for forty years as I did last Sunday," continued the West Auburn man, with an explosion. "Who should we see last Sunday, but Sam S., who lives nigh the old Orthodox church in Minot, a-setting and broadin' to a yoke of oxen that were haulin' a big load of wood. Says I to Sam: 'Guess you've fallen from grace, hain't ye?' Sam had just got as far as Splintersville with his load of wood when I saw him. 'What do you mean,' says Sam. 'Why, said I, 'you don't know what day it is the week 'fore, then?' 'Yes,' says Sam, 'of course I do; 'tis Saturday.' 'I'll be skinned,' says I, 'you haven't got thus far and not found out 'tis Sunday, have ye?' Sam turned all sorts of colors. 'Well,' says he, 'if I ain't beat then. Why, I asked my wife yesterday, what day it was, and she said 'twas Friday, and so we both thought to-day was Saturday; and, as sure as you live, she's at home this minute parbiling beans for Sunday breakfast!'" I never knew beans to get mistaken before. Sam left his load on one side of the highway, unhitched his oxen and the last seen of him, he was moving nor' westerly and singing Watts' hymns.

Cumberland.

The Portland Press says: The following statistics show the amount of grain received at and exported from this port during the year 1880:—Corn, 1,558,968 bushels; wheat, 1,165,310; oats, 23,674 bushels; barley, 32,450 bushels; peas, 291,860 bushels; flour, 129,750 sacks and 4,000 barrels; oatmeal, 16,000 sacks. In addition to these there have been received for local consumption, 1,200,000 bushels of corn and other grains, sufficient to bring the grand total of grain, for home consumption, up to about 3,000,000 bushels. All the grain exported has passed through the Grand Trunk Railway elevator, and it is said the amount is not half so large as it would have been had Portland been provided with another elevator for the more rapid transhipment of grain.

A man named Rounds, an employee in Blake's bakery, in Portland, met with a serious accident Friday. He was carrying a large pan of hot fat from one room to another and was run into by a man named Hodgkins, who upset the fat. The arms and hands of Mr. Rounds were quite seriously burned.

The value of exports from Portland, last week, $391,080.70. Lumber exported 803,405 feet.

The overseers of the Deering alms-house say the building is old and inconvenient, but much better than a shed, and there has been no difficulty in keeping the inmates comfortable during the recent severe weather. The story that some of the aged ones have been obliged to remain in bed all day, the room being too cold to dress in, is emphatically denied.

Franklin.

The Phonographic says that there was a narrow escape from a frightful accident, at Farmington, a few days since. A young son of postmaster Merrill was standing upon, or crossing the track of the Maine Central, as the train was backing or switching in. His foot caught between the rails in such a manner as to hold him securely. Some young friends endeavored to release him, but to no purpose. Through the alertness of Mr. Tarr, brakeman, the train was stopped just in season to prevent the frightful consequences, with but a few feet to spare.

Kennebec.

The Kennebec Steam Tow Boat Company has purchased the steam tow boat "Charles Lawrence" of T. B. Sprague, of Boston, for $14,000. She left Boston, Sunday, for the Kennebec. The boat is considered one of the fastest and most powerful tow boats in Boston harbor.

Washington.

Mr. James Perkins, who has been a trader in Calais for many years, has moved to Boston, Mass.

A new steamer has been purchased by Wolff, Reesing & Co., for use in connection with their sardine factory at Eastport; as also Messrs. Stillman & Martin.

OFFICE HOURS.

AN ENTERTAINING LITTLE SCENE IN A COUNTY CLERK'S OFFICE.

[From the Detroit Post.]

It is generally known that the office hours of the county clerk are from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., and that the office is closed at the latter hour, to enable the clerk and his deputies to clear up the day's business by 6 o'clock. The office hours named would seem to be long enough to give anybody who had business to transact with the county clerk, ample time. A well known business man was not suited with the hours, however, and descended upon the office yesterday with a venomous energy that was as offensive as it subsequently proved ludicrous.

The county clerk and two of his deputies were busily engaged in posting books, entering and filing papers, etc., about 4.20 o'clock, when there came a knock at the door. As that sort of thing was not unusual, no attention was paid to it. The knock was soon followed by the jolliest kind of a fist tattoo, which also failed of its purpose. A moment of silence followed, interrupted by the hurried scratching of the clerks' pens and the sound of rustling papers. The person outside was growing impatient, and in another moment had evidently raised one foot and both hands in sullen punishment of the unyielding wood. The noise became so turbulent that deputy Hosmer went to the door and uncatching it peeped out and asked what was the matter. There stood revealed a business man of the city, who is known to have business hours as unyielding as granite, and who would no more think of paying out a penny or receiving a deposit after 3 o'clock than he does of going to heaven to-day.

Business man.—"Why don't you let me in? What do you mean? Is the county clerk here? We elected him for your accommodation. What do you mean by locking your doors? What do you keep me standing outside for? Where's the county clerk?

Mr. Liggett, You seem to be excited, sir. I am the county clerk.

B. M.—"What do you mean, sir. We elected you to serve the people. What do you want of me?" brandishing the paper in his hand at the same moment. "Where's the county clerk?"

Mr. L.—"I am the county clerk."

B. M.—"Hey?"

Mr. L. repeats his statement. So does the b. m. Then he breaks loose again:

"I have business to transact here. Why didn't you open your door? What are you locked in here for? What do you mean? We elected you."

Mr. Liggett had no opportunity to thank his visitor for securing his position for him. He will doubtless make it a point to call on him in the near future and assure the plural b. m. of his undying gratitude. In the mean time the visitor storms on and the county clerk succeeds in stating that business hours are from 9 to 4.

B. M.—"You were all inside, sir. You heard me rap. I had business to transact."

Mr. L., who begins to lose his patience. "If you had business, why didn't you come in business hours?" and he takes the trouble to courteously explain the office rules and necessities.

B. M.—"I don't care anything about that. It don't make any difference to me. I want to know what you want of me?" and the blustering person whose affairs are so important again brandishes the paper.

"Why don't you attend to your business?"

Mr. L., who begins to get a little red in the face—"We won't say anything more about it. Mr. Hosmer, see what the gentleman wants."

But the b. m. wasn't through and continued his tirade. The clerk finally repeats his statement with some decision, and in the meantime Deputy Clerk Hosmer takes the paper. A special smile, like the ripple of a southern breeze on the glassy bosom of a lake, steals over the hitherto impassable features of Mr. Hosmer.

The Deputy—"Is this anything for us? What is it? An alley opening notice?" and the genial smile expands.

A Post and Tribune reporter, who had entered the office before 4 o'clock had been occupied with the court record, at this point, snickers audibly. The b. m. glares at him ferociously, and the reporter turns his back to chuckle at his ease. The good deputy's smile seems suddenly to have spread infectiously all around the office, and another snicker from the reporter is echoed from behind the desk in the further corner of the room. The obstreperous visitor, who had been standing on first one foot and then another like a cold-toed chicken, glares around the room again, and again unburdens himself.

"Well, suppose it is an alley opening notice. Isn't this the county clerk's office? What do you mean? What do you want of me?"

The deputy's face immediately becomes as solemn as night, and with tears in his eyes and an unaffected tremor in his voice, he says quietly, "My dear friend, we don't want anything of you. We are so sorry, but we can't do anything for you. This is the county clerk's office," (another reportorial snicker that threatens a guffaw,) "but we haven't anything to do with opening alleys. Perhaps you had better inquire of the city clerk. We are sorry to have you, you know, but it's the only thing you can do. "Good-bye," he added, amid a loud laugh all around as the angered but humiliated business man rushed frantically from the office. Somehow a man never feels happy when he has made a jolly old idiot of himself.

By order of the Republican City Committee.

G. A. DAVENPORT, Chairman.

March 7, 1881.

THE NEW SECRETARY OF STATE.

[From the Lowell Courier.]

Secretary Blaine stands among the foremost men in the country. He will be a positive power in the, administration, and his appointment is very significant.

[From the N. Y. Times.]

That Mr. Blaine's presence in the Cabinet will give lively satisfaction to a large body of active and earnest Republicans there can be no possible doubt.

[From the Providence Journal.]

It is unnecessary to discuss the qualifications of James G. Blaine. No public man is better known to the people of the United States. Brilliant, energetic, ambitious, thoroughly acquainted with the temper of the people, it is to be assumed that, as Secretary of State, he will uphold the interests of the Nation, at the same time recognizing the traditions which prohibit our engaging in entangling alliances with foreign powers on the one hand, or being intrusive or intruded upon, illegitimately, on the other.

[From the N. Y. Tribune.]

No Republican has so firm a hold upon the confidence and affections of the mass of his party as Mr. Blaine. His transfer to the State Department has been confidently predicted on all sides for months, for the simple reason that he was recognized by friend and foe as the strongest man—the man of all others—to head the Cabinet. His distinguished services to the party, and his conspicuous ability, have made this choice a political necessity as well as a personal privilege. We have the right to expect from him a brilliant administration; and if vigor be needed in enforcing the Monroe Doctrine, we shall have that.

[From the Boston Journal.]

Mr. Blaine is a man of brilliant parts, of large experience and wide information. Few men are so well informed in political history. He is a man of practical views, and has a way of bringing about whatever he undertakes. He possesses in a rare degree those personal and social qualities so requisite in the head of the department which represents the Government in the family of nations. There can be no doubt that Mr. Blaine will exercise a potent influence in the Administration; and those who know the man best predict that his ambition and patriotism will inspire him to do his utmost not only to make the Administration strong and popular but to stamp it with that statesmanship which will give it a place of honor in the history of the country.

[From the Concord Monitor.]

At its head is James G. Blaine. His name is a tower of strength. He is the peer of all the eminent men who have adorned the office of Secretary of State. Gifted and courageous, honest and patriotic, true to his convictions and to his friends, broad and catholic in his views, gracious and accessible at all times to the humblest citizen as well as to the highest official, he will bring to the duties of the office a ripe statesmanship before which all merely sectional and partisan feelings and prejudices will vanish as the dew before the noon-day sun. Equal to every situation and every responsibility to which he has been called by the favor of his countrymen, we cannot doubt that he will be equal to his new duties, and so manage the affairs of the State Department as to add new glories to the American name abroad and at home.

[From the Boston Traveller.]

Of Mr. Blaine's paramount influence in the White House councils there can be no longer any doubt. That alone insures its stalwart character, and is a guarantee that the administration will not wobble on the Southern issue nor hesitate to use the whole power of the nation to uphold the national laws in the lately rebellious section whenever and wherever they may be assailed. Mr. Blaine's succession to the American premiership is gratifying, too, as a pointed and signal rebuke to the crowd of slanderers who, with an assumption of superior political virtue have, until quite recently, pursued him with unrelenting malevolence. Once more it is demonstrated that, though in no country is the license of the public defamer so great, nor the latitude of political abuse wider, in no country is the vindication of eminent character and the recognition of commanding gifts, in the long run, more certain. It has been said that Mr. Blaine will give to us a taste of "a spirited foreign policy," to borrow a well-worn European phrase. We do not believe that timid people need distress themselves on this score. Mr. Blaine has shown rare courage, but he has shown equal prudence in the course of his public career. The equanimity and magnanimity with which he bore his two successive defeats as a Presidential candidate are alone sufficient proof that he is a man of poise and balance. An ambition so well regulated that its defeat produces no morbid exhibitions of public moroseness, or private animosity, is the sure index of a mind and will that has itself well within its own keeping and control. Such a man will not make mistakes in dealing with foreign governments, nor is he at all likely to provoke disputes for which there is no ground, or lead us into wars for which we have no justification. For the rest, the country, we imagine, would not object to a policy spirited enough to prevent any further swindles like the Halifax award, and to compel a little more attention by third-rate countries like Spain to the sanctity of the persons of American citizens.

The Boston Herald's Washington special says, "it is now understood that, in response to a notification from the Colonel of the 6th Massachusetts regiment, that his command proposed marching through Baltimore to the inauguration in commemoration of the approaching 20th anniversary of the fatal march at the beginning of the war, the Mayor of Baltimore wrote dissuading him, and hence the march through the city did not occur."

THE NATIONAL REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE.

The National Republican Committee held a meeting on Saturday to hear a report of the committee having under consideration the basis of representation in the next National Convention. A majority report recommended that hereafter National Conventions shall be composed of four delegates at large from each State, two from each Congressional district, one for each Republican Senator and one district delegate for each Republican member of Congress, and that the district delegates should be chosen at respective conventions held in the districts. A minority report recommended that the next National Convention consist of a number of delegates from each State equal to twice the number of Senators and Representatives in Congress, and that the Republicans of each State should direct the manner of choosing its delegates. The meeting adjourned for one year, after referring the reports to a sub-committee, which consists of Messrs. Chandler and Forbes, who favor district representation, Platt and Gorham, who favor the unit plan, and Martin of Kansas, who proposes that each State shall have four delegates at large, each Congressional district one delegate, and one delegate for every twelve thousand Republican voters.

Governor Plaisted's home organ is again threatening what no will do. The day after the Republicans "magnanimously" boosted him into an office to which he was never elected, the organ threatened that unless he was permitted to turn out the Republican Messenger and put his son in place, he would refuse to sign warrants for the pay of the refractory Councillors, and unless he was treated with great deference he might refuse to sign any appropriations. Now his organ threatens that he is going to veto the Legislative apportionment when it shall be made by the Legislature. He wants to be permitted to mark out the lines himself, but it would be very funny if a Legislature strongly Republican in both branches should consent to be bullied by Harris M. Plaisted. There are no terrors in that veto.

Our Fusion contemporary, which argued so sweetly a few days since of the advantage of a "non-partisan" election of Mayor in our city, the next day made a tremendous boom of big type over the re-election of the Fusion Mayor in Ellsworth, and intimated that we suppressed the thrilling news. No press despatch reported the election to us, and our friends did not think the event so important as it appears to our neighbor. There were several other and more interesting elections held on Monday—in Portland, Lewiston, Auburn, Bath and Rockland, for instance.

A Washington special states that Secretary Blaine has tendered the appointment of Assistant Secretary of State, which has been accepted by Judge J. C. Bancroft Davis, now of the Court of Claims. Judge Davis was Assistant Secretary of State with Mr. Fish throughout the negotiations resulting in the Geneva Arbitration, and is thoroughly equipped for all the duties of the position.

"It is not an evidence of good judgment or an impartial mind to attempt detraction of President Garfield's inaugural address. It was beyond question a statesmanlike utterance."—Boston Post.

TERRIBLY ANXIOUS.

You insure your house and personal property against loss by fire. You are terribly anxious if the insurance is not kept in force, by renewal, at its expiration. Your property may never burn; but death you cannot escape. It comes, "like a thief in the night," and takes us from those we love, and are dependent upon us. Life insurance, in a reliable company like the QUINN MUTUAL, is the most desirable property you can provide for your family's support.

Legislative Proceedings.

[Special to the Whig and Courier.]

Senate.

AUGUSTA, March 8.

Senator Dudley of Aroostook, presented the following resolve, which was unanimously adopted:

Whereas, in the dispensation of an overruling Providence a brother Senator has been called away in an unexpected manner from us, to the bereft of his nearest and dearest friends and companions; and whereas in this his sore affliction, more fully realized by some of us, who have been favored to be present, and to the end that in so far as possible, our sympathies may mitigate his affliction, we therefore tender to Hon. George Parcher, Senator from Androscoggin, our most deep and earnest sympathy, and pray that he may fully realize, as we are by inspiration, that the Lord doth not willingly afflict or grieve the children of men, but that this his greatest affliction may be so overruled by infinite wisdom as to work for him a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory, and also that he may at length realize that what now seems to him only sad funeral tapers may prove Heaven's distant lamps, and that so in his life we would encourage and help him in sharing and bearing his affliction.

Pending its passage to be enacted, Senator Dingley moved to reconsider the bill incorporating the West End Horse Railroad of Portland and amended it so as to limit the amount of bonds authorized to be issued to one half of the amount of the capital stock of the company. As amended it was again engrossed.

Bill appropriating $500 to aid in building a bridge over Fish stream in Eagle Lake Plantation was taken from the table on motion of Senator Dingley and on his motion was indefinitely postponed on a yea and nay vote. 18 to 9.

Senator Emery called up resolve appropriating $300 for the support of paupers in the town of Kingsbury and moved that it be indefinitely postponed. On a yea and nay vote the resolve was indefinitely postponed, 17 to 3.

Resolve in favor of Eugene Meehand was taken from the table, discussed by Senators Dingley, Emery, Dudley and Libby, and indefinitely postponed, yeas 20, nays 6.

G. M. SEIDERS,

Mr. Verrill doubted the constitutionality of the bill, and on his motion the bill and amendment was recommitted to the Committee on the Judiciary.

On motion of Mr. Talbot, the House voted to adjourn its forenoon session at 12.30 o'clock.

Bill to regulate admissions to the bar in this State was amended on motion of Mr. Verrill by providing that no person who has been disbarred shall be eligible for appointment as a Trial Justice, Justice of the Peace or Justice of the Peace and Quorum. The bill was then tabled and assigned for Thursday.

Reports of committee on Cameron claim for pay for binding were taken up. Mr. Livermore of Bradley asked permission to withdraw the minority report.

The bill authorizes the Association to hold real estate to the extent of $100,000.

Unsettled Accounts With the State.

The bill to authorize the town of Norridgewock to refund the bonds issued in aid of the Somerset Railroad Company, and to create a sinking fund for the payment of the same, is the same as the one passed in favor of the town of Anson.

A Fictionist Satisfied.

The statement forwarded by Mr. Lakin, Treasurer of the Insane Hospital, satisfies Dr. Eaton (Fusion) of Camden, who struggled hard to get an order through the Legislature that he might know what medicines were dealt out to patients at the institution. From this statement it appears that medical supplies proper were purchased last year to the extent of $766.66, and other items that came charged in the same bills, bring the amount up to $781.07, as stated in the annual report.

Hon. Wm. P. Frye Nominated for U. S. Senator.

The Republican members of the Legislature held a caucus to-day and nominated by acclamation, on motion of Senator Emery of Hancock, Hon. Wm. P. Frye, as a candidate for U. S. Senator to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Senator Blaine.

Their opinion was adverse to the employment of a female physician. They considered the hospital fully up to the times. Dr. Sanborn testified as to the medicines used at the hospital. Capt. Lakin, Steward and Treasurer, testified to the improvements made at the hospital since he had been there, such as heating, ventilation, water, lighting, etc. The testimony will be closed to-morrow.

Samuel J. Anderson, of Portland, were the candidates, the main contest coming between Plaisted and Talbot. No nomination was made but the caucus adjourned until to-morrow evening.

MINNESOTA.

Success to Senator Windom.

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 8. Gov. Pillsbury has not received the resignation of Senator Windom and until he does will not appoint a successor.

Congressman Dunnell and ex-Secretary Ramsey are the most prominent aspirants for the vacancy. It is believed the Governor will appoint Ramsey.

WASHINGTON.

Secretary Kirkwood Assumes his Duties—Calling on the President—A Cabinet Session—A Discussion in which the National Banks are Interested.

WASHINGTON, March 8. Secretary Kirkwood this morning formally took charge of the Interior Department. The heads of the different bureaus were introduced to him by Secretary Schurz. After this ceremony Secretary Schurz repaired to the office of Assistant Secretary Bell, where he took leave of the department employes.

Gov. Head, of New Hampshire, with his staff, was among the callers on the President to-day. A delegation of Alabama Republicans was also admitted. They presented a statement showing the condition of their State, and earnestly requested the President to consider the same. Reference was made to the election law of the State as permitting fraud and rendering detection and punishment impossible, and it was stated that the elections of the State are little more than a farce.

Gen. and Mrs. Grant called at the Executive Mansion to-day, remaining about three-quarters of an hour. They will breakfast with the President and Mrs. Garfield to-morrow morning.

Mr. Lincoln is expected to-morrow, when he will be sworn into office. Attorney General McVeagh is absent in Philadelphia, engaged in arranging his business affairs previous to a formal entry upon his duties here. With these exceptions the new Cabinet members were at their posts at the respective departments to-day and attended the meeting of the Cabinet. In the absence of Mr. Lincoln Secretary Ramsey represented the War Department. The session of the Cabinet was devoted to discussing the question whether or not the National Banks shall be permitted to substitute bonds for the legal tenders deposited by them with the Treasury for the purpose of withdrawing their circulation. Consideration was postponed until the next meeting of the Cabinet, meanwhile the Comptroller of Currency and Treasurer of the United States will submit their views upon the case. The weight of opinion at the meeting to-day was that the whole matter hinged upon a question of ruling, or departmental regulation, rather than of law, and that the decision should be such as would least injuriously affect the financial and business interests of the country.

Nominations Acted Upon by the Senate

The President sent the following nominations to the Senate to-day:

Nathan Goff, Jr., to be United States Attorney for West Va.; Lewis Richmond, of Rhode Island, to be Consul General at Rome; Jno. L. Friable, of Michigan, to be United States Consul at Rhodes.

The Senate in Executive session confirmed the nominations of Goff, Richmond and Friable and left seven others on the table for their action.

The Democrats Talk an Extra Session May be Necessary.

Some of the leading Democrats of the House have made an estimate, and claim that the Garfield will lose an extra interest of $13,000,000 by the failure to pass the Funding bill. For this reason there is already a good deal of talk among Democrats that an extra session may be necessary.

The Administration has as yet, however, given no indication that there will be an extra session, and so far as one has been suggested at all, it has been intimated that should one be called it will not be convened before October.

Special Session of the Senate.

WASHINGTON, March 8.

Senate.

The Senate convened at 12, Vice-President Arthur in the Chair.

The galleries were well filled and a large number of members of the House occupied seats upon the floor of the Senate, an impression having gained ground that the Democrats would move to reorganize the committee. Communications were laid before the Senate from ex-Senators Kirkwood and Blaine announcing that they had forwarded to the Governors of their respective States their resignation as members of the Senate.

On motion of Mr. Hoar the communications were ordered on file.

At 12 20 P. M., a message from the President was announced and upon motion of Mr. Bayard the Senate went into executive session.

FOREIGN NEWS.

Terrible Experience of a Party of Aeronauts.

Three of the Balloonatics Drowned.

LONDON, March 8. A balloon carrying an aeronaut and eight passengers ascended from Nice Saturday afternoon. It rose to a great height and was carried out to sea. The voyagers experienced a heavy storm. It was pitch dark and while they were fumbling with the valves the gas escaped and they came down with a run. The balloon was dashed against the waves and carried along the surface of the water a mile. Three of the passengers fell out and were drowned. The others succeeded in closing the valves and the balloon rose into the air and landed the survivors in safety on Monday morning.

Various Matters.

LONDON, March 8. The idea gains ground that Gen. Roberts was sent off in order to pacify the "Jingo" element of the British public, which has been of late strongly recruited from both parties, thus giving time for negotiations to be carried on and possibly for peace to be concluded before his arrival on the scene.

Dillon's arrest was not made as expected, but will certainly be carried out today. Last evening, before Forster left Dublin castle for London, about forty warrants for apprehensions under the coercion act were signed. The prisoners will be arrested to-day and brought to Kilmainham jail which will have a special military guard.

Before his departure for the Cape, Gen. Roberts asked for a battery of jointed mountain guns. There will be sent also a battery of ordinary field 9-pounders. This will necessitate sending 400 more men with horses and mules.

A large consignment of ammunition and stores is about to go to Cape Coast include torpedoes. An advance guard has been despatched from the colony to the Prah with the instructions to resist, if possible, any attempt of the Ashantees to cross that stream. The Foreign office here has received confirmation of the report that Lieutenant Wybrant and Carl Mears, members of the expedition attempting to cross Central Africa, were murdered by natives. The survivors are on the way to the coast. A British war vessel has been ordered to proceed to their relief.

POSTPONEMENT. The lecture which was announced in a late paper to be given by Rev. Mr. Thomas on the 15th inst., has been deferred to the 22d, in order not to interfere with the reading to be given by Prof. Churchill on the former evening. Mr. Thomas is one of our most popular lecturers and the topic on which he speaks (Othello) gives assurance of a most entertaining and instructive lecture.

MATTAWAMKEAG LOG DRIVING COMPANY. At the annual meeting of the Mattawamkeag Log Driving Company, held yesterday afternoon, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Moderator, Charles G. Sterns; Clerk and Treasurer, Abram Moor; Directors, Wm. B. Hayford, Eben Webster, John P. Webber. The drive was put up at auction by the Directors and was bid off by Alexander McLane, of Mattawamkeag, the prices ranging from twenty-two to thirty-four cents a thousand.

STREET SHOW. Snelbaker's Band appeared on the street yesterday in one of Mr. Beal's large carriages drawn by six horses. While going up State street hill, the band opened the ball rather suddenly, causing the horses to execute a quickstep, which was only equalled by the man with the big drum, who dropped out of the rear of the carriage with more haste than grace. It did not take Mr. Brackett long, however, to straighten the animals out again, and then the man with the drum took his place in the ranks once more.

Mussenden, David O. Foye, Seth T. Woodward. Knights will appear in costume.

SNELBAKER'S MAJESTICS. A large audience attended the entertainment at Norombega Hal last evening, by Snelbaker's Majestic Consolidation. The performance seemed to give quite general satisfaction, judging from the applause, although portions of it were decidedly weak. There are some excellent features, however, and if separated from the more tiresome parts the entertainment would be greatly improved. Among the interesting features was the dancing by the Nautch Girls which was something entirely new here. These dusky maidens are exceedingly graceful in all their movements and received a hearty encore at the close of the dance. Of course Little All Right was good and the juggling feats of Karo Orday were quite wonderful.

THE MISTS HAVE CLEARED AWAY. The death of Mrs. Ellen Herbert at the Insane Hospital, on Friday last, is noticeable, from the fact that she is nearly the last inmate who remained there, of those who were at the Hospital at the time of the fearful fire in 1850. Her age cannot be accurately determined. She was supposed to be nearly ninety years old, and has been a patient for thirty-seven years. All of her friends have long since either died, or forgotten her. Her bright black eyes, hair white as the snow of winter, and pleasant smile, will long be remembered by those who have so carefully and tenderly cared for her in her declining years. Her funeral services took place at the Hospital chapel Sunday afternoon, and her remains were placed in the tomb of the peaceful burial ground, within sight of the building, where for many years, she found a comfortable home.

AGED LADY BURNED TO DEATH. The following are the additional particulars concerning the terrible fate of Mrs. Vanseau, at Prospect Harbor, brief mention of which was made in our telegraphic columns yesterday. At three o'clock last Sunday afternoon flames were discovered in the residence of Mr. John Vanseau, at Prospect Harbor, (Gouldsboro.) The flames spread very rapidly, precluding the possibility of recovering any considerable portion of the effects. In the excitement of the moment no one noticed Mrs. Vanseau who, it seems, rushed into the house hoping to save some particular article, and before her absence was noticed she had reached her chamber and, escape being impossible, perished in the flames. Her charred remains were recovered in the cellar after the building was consumed. Mrs. V. was about sixty years of age and was highly esteemed.

FIRE ALARMS. Between eleven and twelve o'clock yesterday morning the roof of Cassidy's cant-dog factory on Front street caught fire and the driver of the horse hose carriage was notified by telephone, from McLaughlin's office, nearly opposite. An alarm was sounded and the department turned out, but the fire was extinguished with a few pails of water. At about eleven o'clock in the evening another alarm was sounded, but after quite a run the department returned to their quarters without finding any fire. It is said that a man called at the residence of Mr. F. P. Wood and after asking if they had a telephone, requested them to notify the folks at the steamer's house that there was a fire at the wool factory, on Fourth street. The request was naturally complied with and the department turned out and went up to the factory, but found no signs of any fire. If this report proves correct we hope that the man who made the request will get his just deserts.

ART ASSOCIATION. The meeting of the Art Association at the residence of G. W. Merrill, Esq., on French street, last evening was largely attended and proved a very pleasant and social affair. Seventeen new members were united with the Association. The following programme was charmingly rendered: Piano duett, "Il Trovatore," Miss Fannie Evans and Mr. Davenport; song, "Love's Request," Mr. Patten; recitation, "Madame Malibran and the Young Musician," Mrs. Plummer; duet, piano and organ, "Nocturn," Miss Merrill and Mr. Davenport; song, "When the Heart Is Young," Miss Nellie Blaisdell; reading of poem, "Epilogue to Lessing's Laocoon," and remarks, Prof. Sewall; recitation, "The Painter of Seville," Mrs. Plummer; trio, piano and organ, Mrs. Davenport, Miss Merrill and Mr. Davenport. The next meeting of the Association will be at City Hall two weeks from this evening, on which occasion Rev. Rue. Thomas will deliver his lecture. This will be followed by a lecture by Dr. Parker, of Hartford, two weeks from that date.

REMINISCENCES OF A VETERAN. The Augusta Journal says: The announcement that Campmeeting John Allen was to celebrate his 86th birthday by an autobiographical lecture in Representatives' Hall, called out a large audience Monday evening. The old gentleman was in his happiest mood, and the lecture was characteristic and inimitable. It was replete with scintillations of wit and well-told anecdote. The hearers were in thorough sympathy with the speaker, and testified their approbation by frequent and hearty applause. What a stretch of history the life of this one man covers! Born in a log cabin in Farmington in 1795, his boyhood was passed in that place. He was rather a wild young fellow; but was converted at a campmeeting at Industry in 1828, and commenced preaching when he was 35 years of age. Up to the present time he has attended 312 campmeetings, and derives his subriquet from his fondness for the out-door services. Mr. Allen has also been prominently identified with the temperance movement in Maine. Although a Methodist in belief and affiliations, he is truly catholic, and has a warm sympathy for all Protestant denominations.

HANDEL ASSOCIATION. A full rehearsal was given by the Handel Association on Monday evening of the cantata upon which they have been engaged this season. Under Mr. Davenport's skillful direction rapid progress has been made, as was plainly seen in the rendering of the choruses. We predict a rare musical treat for our music-loving people, when the concert shall be given, which we understand will be the last of the month. At the close of the rehearsal the programme for the "Social Hour" was given, consisting of: Piano duet, "Overture," by Misses Lincoln and Merrill, which was very brilliant and finely executed; song, "The Village Maiden," by Miss Nellie Blaisdell; song, "If on the Mead," by Mr. Holden; song, "Go Softly, go Safely," by Miss Etta Henry, were finely rendered and received merited applause. Mr. Delaney was we comed with applause as he came forward to play his cornet solo, "Concert Polka," and responded to an encore with "Bluebells of Scotland." Mr. McQuown was present and favored the audience with a violin solo, "Andante Caprice," by De Bebrid, executed in his fine artistic manner; he received an encore but did not respond. Another full rehearsal will be held on next Monday evening.

MECHANICS' INSTITUTE. In our columns will be found the advertisement of the New England Manufacturers and Mechanics' Institute, managed by well-known and active business men of New England, whose object is the erection of a permanent exhibition building and the holding of an annual exhibition of the products of New England industry, the development and stimulation of which is so important to her pre-eminence. The building will be the largest of the kind in the United States, and will have a floor space of eight acres, much more than ever offered in any city, thus affording ample room for such exhibitors as wish to avail themselves of this opportunity. The building will be finished in July.

UNIVERSALIST ENTERTAINMENT. The entertainment under the auspices of the young ladies of the Universalist Society, last evening, was enjoyed by a large audience. An excellent supper was served from six until eight o'clock, after which a carefully arranged programme was presented in a manner that elicited warm manifestations of approval. One of the pleasing features was the rendering of numerous plantation melodies by a chorus, comprising the Misses Brett, Dakin, Jacobs and Stubbs, and Messrs. Holden, Chaplin, Cutter and Palmer; whose voices blended finely. The different selections on the programme were given in the following order; Overture, Messrs. Cushing; plantation song; piano solo, Miss Flanders; plantation song; piano solo, Miss Hersey; plantation song; piano solo, Miss Silsby; plantation song; clarionet solo, Mr. Nesbitt; song, Pretty Red Rose, Mr. Holden; plantation song; instrumental trio, Messrs. Paine, Davis and Goodenow; plantation song.

AMUSEMENTS.

All the Rage.

Hill's "All the Rage" Combination is announced to appear in Norombega Hall next Monday evening. We understand that the piece has been a good deal elaborated and new "business" introduced, and will be presented with new scenic effects. In this connection we quote from our issue of April 16, 1880: "It is safe to say that a better pleased audience never left Norombega Hall than that which passed from the doors last evening, at the close of "All the Rage," after two hours of pure unadulterated fun. The piece is full of the most comical situations imaginable, and in the hands of this well balanced company, which does not contain a poor actor, it constitutes one of the most mirth-provoking plays that has ever been given here. The new scenery added much to the effect of the piece, and to Manager Hill is due the thanks of the large audience for the excellent manner in which the play was presented."

The sale of seats will commence Friday morning.

FRANK MAYO.

There continues to be a large demand for seats for "Davy Crockett," and a crowded house will greet Mr. Mayo on Thursday evening.

NOTES.

"Richelieu" has been selected as the piece for Lawrence Barrett's appearance next month.

Collier's Company under the auspices of A. M. Palmer, Manager of the Union Square Theatre, New York, will present the great Union Square success, "The Banker's Daughter," in this city the latter part of the month. This company is said to be, in its entirety, the finest dramatic company on the road.

During the coming Bangor engagement of Mr. F. S. Chanfrau, Mrs. Chanfrau will appear at a matinee in one of her famous emotional roles.

NEURALGIA.

It has been ascertained that the most inveterate cases of neuralgia are cured by Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites. Not only is the principal disease eradicated, but the patient is made vigorous and strong: the stomach, the blood, the brain become healthy, and he obtains a new lease of enjoyable life.

The only satisfactory treatment of neuralgia is by strengthening the nervous system. A person with strong nerves never suffers from this disease.

The virtues of Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites are such that other remedies are seldom required.

The demand for Hypophosphite and other Phosphorous preparations, as the present day, is largely owing to the good effects and success following the introduction of this article in the United States.

IMPORTANT.

Should the invalid have any difficulty in procuring the Compound Syrup in his vicinity, let him not be put off with any other remedy, because this article has proved itself in the last thirteen years to be the best of all in use, is endorsed for which it is recommended.

NOTE.—No unanimous of persons who recommend any other article as "just as good." The highest class medical men in every large city, where it is known, recommend it and use it.

BENSON'S CELEBRY AND CHAMOMILE PILLS are prepared expressly to cure Sick Headache, Nervous Headache, Neuralgia, Nervousness, Paralysis, Sleeplessness and Indigestion or Dyspepsia, and in every case, no matter how obstinate, if properly used. They are not a cure all, but only for those special diseases. They contain no opium, calomel or quinine, and are not a purgative, but regulate the bowels and cures constipation by giving the necessary tone to the bowels. They have a charming effect upon the nerves as a lovely, quieting effect upon the nervous system, by first arousing the latent energy, then, in some cases starving absorbants. They make the nerves matter and nerve power, force and bony keep to the nerves, and in that way increase natural force, endurance and brilliancy of action. Nobody that has a nervous system should neglect it, take them two or three months in each year, and by so doing it is thought and hoped, by many
